PRESIDENT'S COLUMN:

Christmas 1982 is almost on us. From the committee may we extend the very best of the seasons greetings. May the New Year bring even greater health and happiness.

For those of us that enjoy the fishing, christmas means not just Santa Claus, parties and the usual wines, women and song, but plenty of fishing. Tailor runs at local beaches, pelagies abound further north. We do have these terribly hot days when one tends to frazzle after a day in the sun. But to my way of thinking a hitting the beach just as the sun starts to come up on a crisp clear summer morning is one of the enjoyable activities in life. Winter months it tends to be cold hard and at times quite miserable work. With a young family of kids I've never been quite game to try it on a Christmas morning, but I'am working on it.

Our December field day is our open event followed by the Christmas party/BBQ at the Osbornes.

Our last social activity was not particularly well attended (the picnic at yanchep) but was thoroughly enjoyed by all those who went. Plenty of kids and they had a ball. I'm sure our Christmas festivities will be even more entertaining. We are having a magician come along and it will be doubtfull who will enjoy this the most - the kids or the adults (ask Mrs D'Alonzo about the magicians tricks).

So trust we will see you not only at the open field day but at our party also. Some reports of Tailor at the local beaches have trickled in already so there is no excuse for anyone for not getting out and having a go at fishing. This is the easiest venue for the year for everyone not only to participate but to catch some fish.

Have you noticed a trend over the last year or so with respect to attendences in both field and drycasting events. While we do not have many juniors we have a large number of mini-juniors participating. Many of the active members of our club are young family people and its great to see them start the kids off at a young age. While not all of them will enjoy the sport as they get older Im sure most of them will. It gives a great family relationship when the kids participate in the same activities as their parents. Some of these kids are going to make very active senior members ten or twenty years from now.

With Christmas being a very special time for the younger generation I have confined my comments to kids and fishing and wish to conclude by saying "ALL THE VERY BEST FOR YOU AND YOUR FAMILY FOR CHRISTMAS 1982" - See you at surfcasters open Field Day/ Christmas Party.

 APRIL: Rottnest

EDITORIAL:

The November meeting was opened by the President Peter who welcomed Tony Bell, Laurie Cooks brother-in-law who is visiting W.A. from the other side. "Laurie Cooks Brother-in-law". Poor Fellow !!!

Those members who have not achieved the honor of catching a game fish and being awarded a game fish badge. "Eat Your Hearts Out". Junior Brodie Carr at the last meeting was awarded, by Laurie Cook our recorder, his Game Fish Badge for a fine capture of a 5 kg Trevally at Ninga~~oo~~. Congratulations Brodie wear your badge with pride.

Sharon Osborne is the recent Drycasting State Championships set a new state Ladies' Record in the 56 gram event with a fine cast of 130 metres. This distance will take some beating, congratulations Sharon.

PLASTIC NAME TAGS:

S.C.A.C. Name Tags are to be orded by Laurie Cook and Dick Stevens. If you are interested please contact either committee member.

It was noticed that some old members paid us a visit at the last general meeting namely Eric Sullivan and Don Bibby, nice to see you both. Try and make it more frequent. Nice to see Brian Wallis up and about again after a recent visit to hospital, hope your feeling much better Brian.

Dont forget the Christmas Meeting the drinks are on the house but please bring a plate of goodies. This meeting will give all members the opportunity of wishing each other the best for Christmas and the New year, so come along and enjoy yourselves.

On the 12th of December there is to be a BBQ. Afternoon to be held at the Osborne's House (see page 1 for address) further details are listed in this issue.

For those members who are unable to attend either meeting or field day this month, the committee and fellow members wish you all the very best for both Christmas and the New Year.

WEDGE ISLAND

Steven Sutton and myself decided to go to Wedge in the comfort of the Landrover deciding to travel in comfort for a change.
Arriving early Saturday morning we thought we would go down and check out the beach which proved to soft drive on, As George Holman found out, got bogged in the same place as last year. So we decided to go back to the sign on for a couple of tinnies.

After the sign on it seemed that everybody had the same idea about south reef so we all headed off with nobody knowing how to get there.
After trekking all over the country side we finally arrived at the reef, but to no avail the fish seemed to be elsewhere.

Peter and Heather Osborne were high and dry on the tripods while the rest of us we on reef stands fighting the waves and trying to fish.
P. D'Alonzo fishing of the beach behind us ended up with the biggest catch out of the lot of us, three dart and a small mulloway.

The weigh-in was a bit dissapointing with no big fish weighed in.
The Tailor were lucky to be bait size. I think the only good thing about wedge is that its only a short drive home.

GO FISHING FOR CONTENTMENT:

I was asked how do you keep so fit and dont seem to get any older for your age - 83 years.

My secret is go fishing if you want. Contentment and live to a ripe old age. My wife Pearl and I have fished from the far north to Bremer Bay in the South West. I do not think there is a fishing spot along our coast we have not fished, we have come beck feeling better for it and always look forward to the next time.

Fishing is like stalking a Panther in the jungle, the quieter you are the better results you get.

I was asked when I was working for the R.S.P.C.A, what will I do when I retire - I answered GO FISHING

Why so many men go fishing - some to get away from the wife and kids others take their wife and kid with them to keep the piece, other to be with their mates in the Dry casting and angling club thats what the clubs for, angling and comradship.
 So happy hunting next time.

READ YOUR BEACH:

1. The beach has a facination for many who are not concerned with fishing but to the angler it holds many secrets which he must try to learn from it. It is a Storehouse of information that vital to the man whc is to fish it to get success.

2. The beach expert like my fishing friend Vic Dovice. A life member of our club is a man who has learnt to read the beach and understand it. He has made a study of it and from a quick glance will select the best spot with in his vision. To fish and I would say Vic this looks good, he would go walking on and then plant his rod & gear down and say look there's the channel and over there is the Gutter so we fish here and we get results.

3. I suggest that anyone who has not made a study of beaches to take time off on a clear day and from a good advantage point, on top of a sand hill study the beach for a couple of miles, look at the way the waves break where they break, how the foam moves where the holes, gutters and sand shifts are in relation to the break of the wave, the slope of the sand on the beach and the effect the tide would have if rising or going out.

4. The waves, the way they break, are the most important from an anglers viewpoint because once he learns to understand them he can tell what the beach conditions are weven in the dark.

5. It is recognised that the break of the wave is caused by friction as the wave rolls into the beach and reaches the shallow water. The friction between the sand and water holds back the lower protion of the wave, the upper part of the wave is free and curls ahead, making the break. Thus by studying the waves we can tell where the sand spits on located and where the gutters are where the holes and steep banks begin and finishes, and where the flat beach will be found.

6. A typical beach scene may be this : Immediately in front of us the waves are breaking well out, rolling in with a lot of foam.. This gradually deminishes and the wave reforming and again breaking but with less power and slowly rolling up the beach. To the right the waves come well up onto the beach before they break. Sharply and roll up the sand while to the left of us the waves are breaking well out and rolling for a long distance up the beach. We know from this that in front of us, we have a sand spit causing the wave to break. They reform over the deeper water of the Gutter just in front of us and break gently on the beach while to the left is a hole or the beginning of a steep bank on the beach.

7. Watch the way the foam moves and you can tell if there is any current or sweep in the water, this will have some effect on the type and size of sinker you will use.

8. The beach is a natural feeding ground for many of fish and gives us good bait worms and small fish, Whiting, Bream Flathead, Tailor and Mulloway these are the common eat fish taken from our beaches.

9. During the day most fishing is done on sand spits in holes and gutters, but at night the whiting, bream come in to the shallows feeding.

10. Learn to know how to read your beach to understand it and your fishing trip will be more enjoyable and will produce better results.

11. All that I have written was taught to me by Vic Dovia, I have known us to walk 1/2 mile along a beach and he would say lets move on theres nothing here not a gutter, spit or anything in this part, fish will not come in here, and we would take his advise and move to another area. We move along the beach and the water looks good, we throw in and after 2 hours not a bite but the fellow a hundred yards down the beach from us is pulling in fish, because he's in the right PLACE.

Better luck next time

"SOME GUYS HAVE ALL THE LUCK"

Recently that fiendish character who is close to all our hearts, the Notorious "Swan River Kingie Catcher" Robert made another killing as he perched himself along the maddy banks of the mighty swan.

Between us, he tuned his transistor into 6 pm while he sipped on a hot freshly brewed cup of Bonox and stuffed a large sandwich down his rough throat. Seated in his specially designed rod holder was his finely balanced power rod and reel, with the drag set to 6.4519 lbs. Dangling in the dark merky water on a set of 4 - 3/0 hooks with a 30oz runner bean sinker sitting above was a nice smelly mulie, awaiting that real big one.

Suddenly ! After only 2.5 Hours of patiently waiting for a nibble, it finally happened. Yes, A mozzie attack, there were literally thousands of them. They were ruthless, spreading rape, pillage and plunder upon us, and biting rather hard also. But would'nt you know it, bob in his wellies and white overalls had'nt been bitten once, while I rolled on the ground in paid, "crying for mercy and swearing out loud".

Anyway, after the little beggars departed and all was quite, a large bank of dark threatening cluds rolled overhead and obscured the moon. The duck, which had been swimming in Mid-stream, took flight as I was lighting a cigarette, when suddenly "Old Kingie" himself. Jumped to his feet and flew to his rod "A Strike" he cried "Its a beaut".

Now you may well ask "What the heck has clouds obscuring the moon" and "Me lighting a cigarette" got to do with Bob catching a 32 lbs Whopper Kingie ?

NOTHING AT ALL !!!

It just means I got soaked because it rained and Bob caught another Kingie and he never got wet, because he was drip dry, mozzie proof and Kingie capable.

So the next time you go fishing and you get bitten by mozzie's or soaked by a freak thunderstorm and you don't catch a fish. Just thing of Bob "The Swan River Kingie Catcher".

Yes! "some guys have all the luck"
